The Bureau of the Census, first created by Congress through the Permanent Census Act of March 6, 1902, and contained in the Department of Commerce since 1913, has the authority to enumerate and assess the economic assets and social characteristics of the United States Population. Although censuses in a relatively crude form have been taken for well over 2500 years, a degree of sophistication and accuracy was not attained until the twentieth century. The first census in the American colonies was taken in Virginia in 1624-1625, a practice which was followed sporadically by the other colonies. The U. S. Constitution made the census an integral part of the government machinery for it provided an enumeration of the population "be made within three years after the first meeting of the Congress of the United States and within every subsequent term of ten years" (Article I, Section 2). Such an enumeration was primarily important to determine the population of the various states so that Congressional representatives could be apportioned among the states in proportion to their population.

Prior to 1860, some territorial census enumerations were taken in eastern Nebraska (1854, 1855, 1856, and well as 1865 and 1869) and can be found in the magazine, Nebraska and Midwest Genealogical Record. The first federal census for Nebraska, however, was not taken until 1860. This census is available in the Reference room of the Nebraska State Historical Society. The 1885 census available at the Society was undertaken by the state government although funded by the federal government as provided in an act of Congress March 3, 1879. Following the abolishment and reorganization of the U.S. census office in 1894, no further provisions were made for a state census with federal aid. State censuses were taken regularly after that for soldiers and sailors and school children.

The 1890 census of the entire United States was destroyed by fire with the exception of the census of veterans or their widows living in 1890, and a few other scattered returns (see SG3).
The Societies holdings contain microfilm records of all available federal census records for Nebraska 1854-1930. The 1920 census was purchased by the Historical Society in 1991 through the courtesy of patron donations for this purpose. Federal law restricts current census records as confidential.
The 1930 Census was received by the Library/Archives in April of 2002. A Soundex Index is included for the 1920 Census but not the 1930. There are guides shelved in the Reference Room for using the 1930 census.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

This collection consists of original records of the Bureau of the Census for Nebraska, 1854-1890, and federal and state census records on microfilm for Nebraska and other states surrounding and relating to Nebraska, 1860-1920. The record group is divided into five subgroups: 1) Nebraska Territorial census records; 2) Nebraska State Census records; 3) Supplemental Schedules and Miscellany, 1870-1884; 4) Geographic Subdivisions and Enumeration Districts - United States, 1850-1910; and 5) Out-of-State Census Records, 1830-1910.

Subgroup One contains the original manuscripts of Nebraska Territorial and Federal censuses, 1854-1856, which have been transferred to the custody of the Nebraska State Archives, and supplemental schedules 1860 on microfilm. The original censuses for Nebraska Territory are also available on microfilm. Patrons can also use the published version of this material in the Nebraska and Midwest Genealogical Record, available in our library. Consult the card catalogue for access to this publication. The Federal Census for 1860 Nebraska Territory is on microfilm in the Reference Room. An index to this census can be found in our library.

Subgroup Two contains State and Federal census records, 1870-1930, on microfilm purchased from the National Archives. Soundex card indexes to the 1880, 1900, and 1920 censuses are also available on microfilm in this Subgroup.

Subgroup Three is arranged into 4 series: 1) Supplemental Federal Schedules, 1870; 2) Supplemental Federal Schedules, 1880; 3) Census of Veterans, 1890; and 4) Nebraska Statistical Abstract Reports, 1865-1884.

Series One and Two contains Supplemental Schedules 2 thru 6 of Federal censuses for Nebraska, 1870 & 1880, which relate to Deaths, Agriculture, Industry, and Social Statistics (Property evaluations, libraries, churches, wages, schools, etc.). These are not complete for every county or township in Nebraska.

Series Three, SG3, contains a census enumeration of Nebraska Civil War Veterans and their widows for the year 1890. This is the only record remaining for that year's federal census of Nebraska.

Series Four, Subgroup Three, contains original manuscript volumes (compiled) containing statistical abstracts gathered under the Census and Vital Statistics Act passed by the Nebraska Legislature on February 12, 1869, and in compliance with Article III, Section 2 of the first Constitution of the State of Nebraska. Not all counties are represented in this series. The majority of the volumes in this series are not individual enumerations. They contain statistical information only on Deaths, Disease, Inhabitants (totals), Births, Nativity (Country or State), Trades & Occupations.
The Nebraska State Census of 1865 including individual enumerations is available for Butler, Cedar, and Otoe Counties only in these volumes.

A xerox copy of the 1876 census for Sarpy County, taken for the same reasons as the volumes in Subgroup Three, Series Four, is shelved in the Microforms Reference Room along with other printed matter concerning the various census records.

Census information may also exist in the files of county records held at the State Archives, particularly in the case of veterans residing in Nebraska (i.e., militia lists, census of soldiers and sailors in Nebraska).

We wish to repeat that the Territorial censuses of Nebraska appear in The Nebraska and Midwest Genealogical Record. A separate index to these censuses can be found in our library. Other printed and published material available in our library should not be overlooked. This includes the printed indexes to the, 1860 and 1870 Nebraska censuses. Andreas' History of the State of Nebraska is a good locator for early Nebraska pioneers. The U.S. Bureau of the Census provides a card index (on microfilm) to the 1880, 1900, and 1920 censuses.

Census records of Indians living on reservations in Nebraska can be found on microfilm in RG508, United States Department of Indian Affairs.

Subgroup Four consists of eight reels of microfilm for the federal censuses (except 1890) describing the different enumeration districts used for that census. Printed versions of this record can be found in binders shelved in the Reference Room.

Some of the Out-of-State census holdings of the Historical Society have been transferred to Union College Library, Lincoln, Nebraska. Those retained for bordering states and states relative to the history of Nebraska exist in Subgroup Five. A listing of censuses transferred is in the inventory file. Also included are two reels of enumeration district maps for the 1930 census.

For additional information on the availability of Federal Census records contact the National Archives and Records Service, 8th and Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, D.C. 20408. A good preliminary information source is the Guide to Genealogical Research in the National Archives, published by the National Archives in 1982 and available in our Reference Room.

NOTE: The State Census of 1885 was partially funded by the U. S. Government according to the provisions of an act of Congress passed March 3, 1879, which provided fifty percent of the costs of a state census between the years of the federal census. The General Laws of Nebraska, Chapter 10, 1885, outline the procedures for this census. Records were sent to the Department of the Interior and subsequently transferred to the National Archives in 1944. This microfilm was produced by the National Archives in 1961 as Microcopy #352, Rolls 1-56. Records are kept at the National Archives under RG29, U. S. Bureau of the Census.

SUBGROUP TWO NEBRASKA STATE AND FEDERAL CENSUSES

SERIES FIVE NEBRASKA STATE CENSUS, 1885

NOTE: This census is for the organized counties only of Nebraska for the year 1885. An explanation is given below as a possible reason for the absence of census records for certain counties.

Armada Precinct, Buffalo County, census is missing.

Blaine County census was not available at the time of microfilming. The government presumed these records lost as originals are not in the National Archives. Blaine county appears in the 1885 Atlas of Nebraska. However, the county was not organized until March of the year of this census and was sparsely populated.

Although the boundaries of Chase County had been defined in 1873, the county was not officially organized until 1886. The earliest post office in the county was established some time during the year of this census. No census of unorganized territory appears on this microfilm, and is not included with the census of a bordering county. This county also was very sparsely populated.
Boyd County existed as the unorganized territory north of Holt County in 1885. This portion of Dakota Territory became a part of Nebraska in 1882. The Territory of Boyd County was not opened to settlement until February 1890. It did not officially become a county of Nebraska until 1891. Once again, the unorganized portions of Nebraska were not enumerated in this census. The only populated section of present Boyd County in 1885, Turtle Creek Precinct, is enumerated as a part of Holt County in this census. There were less than 200 inhabitants of Boyd in 1885. The major part of this county was either Military or Indian Reservation land.

Blackbird (Thurston) County, encompassed the area of the Omaha and Winnebago Indian Reservations. For administrative purposes, this area was partitioned among Burt, Cuming, and Dakota counties in 1879. However, this being federal property, was not included in the 1885 census. The area became Thurston County in 1890. The Omaha Reserve ran from T25N, R6-7E thru T25-26N, R8-10E. The Winnebago Reserve in 1885 was T26N, R6-10E. Both reserves appear in the 1885 Atlas and the Omaha & Winnebago Reserves.

NOTE: The 1885 census of Nebraska is microfilmed with the Supplemental Schedules for Agriculture, Deaths, and Manufacturing. A county/reel index appears at the start of each reel. A detailed Frame Guide for use with the Microfilm is shelved in the Reference Room.
