HISTORICAL NOTE

In the valley of the Republican River, in southwest Nebraska, Red Willow County occupies an area of 718 square miles. It is bordered by Furnas County on the east, Decatur County, Kansas, on the south, Hitchcock County on the west, and Frontier County on the north.

A locating party (formed in Nebraska City by the Republican Valley Land Company) came to the river valley in November 1871 led by Royal Buck. John S. King had settled on the Republican River in the eastern part of the county before 1872 and began a settlement where Indianola is today. Beaver Creek was also settled in 1872. The boundaries of the county were set in February of 1873.

The first election to organize the county was on May 27, 1873. On June 13 of that year, the first meeting of the county officials was held in a tent where Indianola was layed out and eventually became the county seat. The Lincoln Land Company built a frame courthouse in 1873 and loaned it to the county. A permanent courthouse was constructed in 1880 on lots donated by the Republican Valley Land Association. In 1890 McCook (formerly Fairview) petitioned the commissioners to move the county seat. After many difficulties, McCook took the majority of votes at an election in August of 1892, but lacked the three-fifths to pass. After a four year court battle, McCook won the honor of county seat in April of 1896 by a decision of the Supreme Court. A new courthouse was constructed at McCook in that year and the present courthouse built in 1926.

The Burlington and Missouri River Railroad in Nebraska came as far as Indianola by the spring of 1880.

McCook was the home of George W. Norris (1861-1944), who served forty years in the Nebraska Legislature. The Norris House is maintained by the Nebraska State Historical Society and tours are provided to interested parties. Norris was prominently involved in the states water and irrigation projects. Red Willow County created one of the state=s first irrigation systems. Following the flood on the Republican Reiver in 1935, dams and reservoirs were built in the McCook area, resulting in water-based recreation and greater cropland irrigation.

ADDED ENTRIES:

DISTRICT COURTS--NEBRASKA--RED WILLOW COUNTY
MARRIAGES--NEBRASKA--RED WILLOW COUNTY

Red Willow County also produced the largest oil field in the state beginning in the late 1950's.

McCook Junior College, the oldest member of the state-wide system of technical colleges, was started in 1926 as McCook Junior College.

The county is named for Red Willow Creek, a mistranslation of the Sioux word Chanshasha Wakpala (Red Dogwood Creek).

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

This collection contains miscellaneous records for Red Willow County, Nebraska. The bulk of county records remain at the county courthouse. While the collection is divided into nine subgroups, the State Archives holds records for Subgroups Four and Seven only.

Collection is divided into nine subgroups: 1) Assessor (no records); 2) Treasurer (no records); 3) County Board of Commissioners (no records); 4) County Clerk, 1872-1995; 5) Register of Deeds (no records); 6) County Court (no records); 7) District Court, 1913-1980; 8) Superintendent of Schools (no records); and 9) School District Records, District No. 65, 1890-1937.

This first Subgroup for which we hold records is Subgroup Four, County Clerk. Series One of that subgroup contains the Marriage indexes and volumes for the county, 1872-1995. The volumes of licenses and certificates range from 1874-1993 and indexes are included for the years 1872-1995. These records were microfilmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah in May 1995 at the county courthouse with the cooperation of the Nebraska State Historical Society and the county clerk.

Subgroup Seven, District Court, is divided into ten series: 1) Naturalization Records (no records); 2) General Indexes (no records); 3) Appearance Dockets (no records); 4) Court Journals (no records); 5) Complete Record (no records); 6) Judgement & Execution Dockets (no records); 7) Case Files (no records); 8) Bills of Exception & Depositions, 1913-1980; 9) State Tax Suit Records (no records); and 10) Miscellaneous Volumes (no records)

The only series for which we hold records, Series Eight, Bills of Exception, contains twelve boxes of selected bills of exception and testimony relating to cases adjudicated in the District Court. All other records for this subgroup, including Naturalization Records, remain at the county courthouse.
