

Fees for Duplication and Special Access

(Effective November 3, 2015)

Providing access to its collections is part of the mission of History Nebraska. While on-site access is generally free of charge, any access that requires staff research, lab work or special curatorial assistance may involve a fee. History Nebraska also provides duplicates of photographs, documents and published materials in its collections, copies of moving images and sound recordings, and images of artifacts. This schedule outlines the fees we charge for reference copies of our materials. Additional sizes/formats may be available, see: Fees for the Use of Still Images and Fees for the Use of Moving Images and Sound Recordings. Permission for the use of non-reference copies is documented in an agreement between History Nebraska and the user. For details on our guidelines for use, see: Use Policy.

Delivery times. Within five business days of receipt of a written request for access or duplication History Nebraska will provide an estimate of the expected cost of duplication and either a) access to or copies of the records requested, or b) a written explanation as to why the request cannot be fulfilled within five days and an estimated date and cost of fulfillment. The requester has ten business days to confirm fulfillment of request for the cost and time estimated by History Nebraska or to modify or prioritize the items within the request and receive a new cost and time estimate. If History Nebraska does not receive a response from the requester within ten business days, the request will not be fulfilled.

Payment. Fees should be paid or invoiced in advance of delivery of orders and are non-refundable. Nebraska state agencies must pay through IBT. Fees are subject to change without notice.

Taxes. Nebraska sales tax will be applied to all orders delivered in the state of Nebraska.

Right of refusal. History Nebraska is not obligated to provide copies of materials in any format that differs from the format of the original record or from the format/resolution typically used for reference copies by History Nebraska. We may refuse to allow patrons to use personal duplication devices if they pose a preservation risk to the materials. In such cases, the patron will have the right to obtain copies made by our staff of such materials for the applicable fees.

Waivers. History Nebraska reserves the right to waive fees or other requirements on an individual basis at the discretion of either the Associate Director for Collections or the Director & CEO of History Nebraska. Such fee waivers can be made only upon approval of written application.
