HISTORICAL NOTE

Originally the hunting grounds of the Pawnee and Sioux Indian tribes, a treaty in 1876 opened up the area of Thomas County to settlement. The first homestead claim was filed in 1880. Located in the Nebraska Sandhills, the county was formed in March of 1887. The first officers were appointed by the Governor until the county could get organized. The county is bordered by Cherry, Hooker, McPherson, Logan and Blaine counties.

Further settlement was promoted by the passage of the Kinkaid Act of 1904. The Thedford Livestock Association and Moses P. Kinkaid, representative for the county, 1904-1922, were instrumental in passage of this act which enlarged the acreage claimed on homestead entries.

Instrumental in the growth of the county was the construction of the Burlington and Missouri River Railroad in Nebraska through the county in the late 1880s. The important towns of the county were located along this line. Townsites were initiated by and land available from the Lincoln Land Company and the railroad. Thedford was established by the Lincoln Land Company and the Burlington railroad. This town became the county seat at the time of the county=s organization. Seneca, another railroad town originating in 1888, vied for the position of county seat in 1920 when the courthouse at Thedford was destroyed by fire. Thedford remained the county seat and a new courthouse was constructed in 1920.

Thomas County, Nebraska

Thomas County was the site chosen by Charles Edwin Bessey, a prominent botanist, to experiment with tree growth in the area. This became the Bessey division of the Nebraska National Forest in 1902. Cattle raising is the prevalent industry in the county.

The county was named for Major General H. Thomas of Civil War fame.

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

Assessment Records were accessioned in 2006 comprising 374 volumes. These are described in Subgroup One, Assessor, 1889-1966. Other records for Thomas County include three volumes of marriage records on microfilm, listed in Subgroup Four, Series One. The collection is divided into the following subgroups: 1) Assessor, 1889-1966; 2) Treasurer (no records); 3) County Board of Commissioners (no records); 4) County Clerk, 1887-1993; 5) Register of Deeds (no records); 6) County Court (no records); 7) District Court (no records); 8) Superintendent of Schools (no records); and 9) School District Records (no records).

The Marriage Records of Thomas County were microfilmed by the Genealogical Society of Utah in 1995 with the cooperation of the Nebraska State Historical Society and the county officials. All other records for the county are at the courthouse in Thedford.
