Congregational Church

THE FIRST CHURCH IN LINCOLN, NEBRASKA

October 11, 1926.

Rev. Benj. F. Wyland, D.D.
Worcester, Mass.

My dear Dr. Wyland:-

As acting clerk of the First-Plymouth Congregational Church, I have the pleasure of conveying to you the official announcement of action taken by the congregation at a meeting held September 26th.

Mr. C. Petrus Peterson moved the acceptance of the following recommendation:

"The Committee of Eighty recommend to the church that a call be issued to Dr. Benjamin F. Wyland on the basis of $5,600 per year salary, with an additional sum not to exceed $400 for moving expenses, and an annual vacation of six weeks."

Several seconds to the motion were made.

A rising vote was taken and the chairman announced that the motion was carried unanimously.

The lateness of this notification is due to the inexperience of the acting clerk who received no instructions and took for granted that the committee had taken care of this formal part of the proceedings. Pardon the delay, and blame it on me.

We are sorry that you will not be here during the week of the Training School, and during the coming strenuous campaign to keep our shows closed on Sunday. Mr. Peterson's speech at the mass meeting yesterday will do much to mould public opinion, and the prophets say that if we can get every eligible voter to the polls we will win, otherwise we stand to lose. The task is mine to recruit from among the prominent church women a thousand or more who will "get out the vote". That will be easier than finding five hundred women to solicit for the Community Chest Oct. 18-22.

If you have any instructions for the clerk-secretary-director of religious education pending your arrival, do not hesitate to command me.

Very cordially yours,

Eleanor T. Miller

LINCOLN, NEBRASKA

Lincoln, April 8, 1931.

Mr. J. C. Seacrest, Toastmaster,
Lincoln, Nebraska.

Dear Mr. Seacrest:

I sincerely regret my inability to be present with you on Thursday night to join with the other members of the Congregation who are fortunate enough to be present, to celebrate the successful consummation of the great project that we have been working on for more than two years past.

When two or three years ago, Doctor Wyland had a vision of the new Church and presented to us the marvellous architectural designs, we were all greatly impressed, but the size of the task was so stupendous that it somewhat bewildered us as it seemed almost impossible of realization. The opportunity to do great things however, appealed to us. I am glad that the members of the Church had the courage and faith to grasp the opportunity and to ride on. The result obtained has I am sure, exceeded the expectations of all. We now have a united and enthusiastic church; the project has been entirely financed and we can go forward with our work in the future knowing that we have fully provided for the payment of the large obligations which the undertaking required.

For the small part that I have had to do with the matter, I want to express to all members of the Church to whom I appealed, my sincerest gratitude for the hearty co-operation which I received from all, without exception. The spirit of devotion and self-sacrifice on the part of all members of our Church will ever be a source of inspiration to me and I am sure to all members of the congregation.

The members of the Church owe a debt of gratitude to our beloved pastor, Mr. Wyland which can never be repaid. Except for his unbounded faith and enthusiasm, his grit and determination which would not admit defeat, and the inspiration that it gave to all of us, the magnificent result would never have been accomplished. We should not however, glory too much in the material results which we have obtained but should realize the responsibility which has now been placed upon us. We are entrusted with equipment that is all which could be desired and we must use it to the best advantage. We must be good stewards and return the proper accounting to Him from Whom all blessings come. Hard work is the only secret to success in any line, in any undertaking. It is up to each member of the church to put his shoulder to the wheel and to help realize to the fullest extent upon the opportunities which are ours. The Pastor of the church cannot do it all, and he must be supported to the fullest extent by an enthusiastic, and devoted hard working congregation.

I trust that this duty will be fully performed and that when the time comes for each of us to answer the final roll-call, we will truly merit the commendation "Well done, good and faithful servant."

again I wish to extend to each of you my sincerest congratulations and regret that I cannot participate with you on this happy occasion.

Frank Howard

COUNCILMEN

OFFICE OF MAYOR

CHARLES W. BRYAN
MAYOR

April 29, 1937

*Times
Governor Nebraska*

Reverend Ben F. Wyland,
320 8th Avenue,
Brooklyn, New York.

Dear Mr. Wyland:

I have thought about you almost every day and I feel sure I have intended on the morning of every day to write you before evening and to express my appreciation for the splendid service you rendered to this city during your few years stay among us. Our appreciation of your ability as a leader of thought, your business ability as an organizer and director of public opinion, and the moral courage that you have to lead a fight without regard to personal consequences, looms larger each day as we realize that no one has arisen yet to take your place since you left here.

We are now approaching another city election. I declined to stand as a candidate for re-election because the new form of government takes away all the Mayor's authority and duties and enables a miscellaneous council of seven to select some appointee to act as administrator where neither the council individually can direct him nor the people get at him. In other words, we are to be governed by an invisible government, or by remote control and the control is already demonstrating itself. Our candidates for Mayor and council have not said where they stand on anything. In fact, they appear to have joined the sit-down strikers when inquiry is made as to what their candidacies represent. The oil, coal and power monopolies are taking a very active part here and have drafted a set of candidates, their intention being to kill all our municipally owned public utilities if they can do so without getting caught. Some of those making a campaign are promising all the various elements of law violators that they will be more liberal with them during the coming two years than I have been in the past two years. We have another group of candidates that are being supported by the various kinds of gambling and racketeers and by the former city employees who were discharged for the good of the service so we could have law enforcement and clean up the city. So we have not much to look forward to here other than a general letting down because we are going to be governed by the same system that they have in Kansas City where they have already, as you may have noticed, started 39 people toward the penitentiary with another 100 in line, for disfranchising all of the voters of that city.

Do you see either of the Lincoln papers? If you do you have noticed, no doubt, with interest, some of the unpleasant things that have been unearthed in connection with one member of our city council and the employees in some of his departments. He has, however, stood uniformly back of me for all the law enforcement policies including the limiting the number of licenses for taverns and package liquor stores, confining them to a close-in business zone and all the other many rules and regulations I have put through to take as much of the debauchery as possible out of the liquor business under our law. Two other members of the council got offside at two different times and said they were going to override me and issue some more new licenses but when I called on the representatives of all the good government forces to come to the council meeting to be present when the matter was voted on, they withdrew their intended plan and voted to uphold the policy of not granting any new licenses.

I believe if you could look over the city and inquire from all classes of people, both church members and non-church members, both the drinkers and total abstainers, all the taverns and package liquor stores, W.C.T.U., all civic groups, you would find all elements are unanimous in their endorsement of what we have done here in Lincoln during the past two years and how we have done it. The ministers and W.C.T.U. and other organizations wanted me to stand as a candidate for Mayor to uphold the policies that I have established here and all the taverns and liquor stores urged me to stand as a candidate for the purpose of upholding and enforcing all the rules for fear some new crowd of officials might let down the bars and then the taverns and other wets feel they might be voted out of business by an outraged public. So it has been both amusing and gratifying to find I was petitioned by all elements including the extreme wets and the extreme dries to continue as Mayor for the purpose of upholding what has been done here and what has been accomplished in this city in the way of removing as many of the evil effects of the liquor business as can be done under our laws and also in ridding the city of the gambling of all kinds including the church bazaar violations in the way of punch boards, wheels of fortune, turkey raffles, marble machines, slot machines, etc.

I retire as Mayor on the 10th of May and I am doing so with more satisfaction as to what has been accomplished to give Lincoln the kind of government and the kind of an atmosphere in which to rear and educate the youth, than any previous administrative work that I have carried out.

Today I have suspended other kind of business with the determination of writing to you to acknowledge the splendid part you took and without with I do not believe I would have had the opportunity of accomplishing what has been done in the capitol city of Nebraska. I hope you are satisfied and happy in your new field. I have noticed with interest and administration the newspaper mention of the recognition you have already received since you have been in your new territory. I also want to thank you for your kind and generous reference to me in the letter which you wrote the Journal as a former citizen.

If a letter from me to anyone in New York, from Governor of the state or Mayor of New York City on down the line, would in your judgment be of any service to you, let me know immediately as to what you want and I will forward it this time without delay as I will consider it a real pleasure on my part to aid your work in any way I can and I will feel that I would be doing some community a service at the same time.

With expressions of high personal esteem and with kind personal regards and best wishes to you and yours, I am

Sincerely your friend,

Dear Ben:

Here it is coming Easter, and your thoughtful Christmas greeting has been on my desk awaiting those few spare minutes when it could be properly answered--but time has not been heavy on my hands this winter.

Anyway, may we face the trials and worries and burdens of this summer with the well-grounded faith and eternal hope of the Easter season--that by Christmas time of this year, we are well on our way to completion of the war job that is ours, and our youngsters coming home, and cheery greetings be ours again from good friends, and so I now greet you as against that time.

Sincerely,

"I was in your city long enough to recognize the real and enduring value of the Christian Service the Council of Churches of Baltimore, under your leadership, is performing for service men in that area. The religious literature which we received from you is of high quality and usefulness. In the past few weeks we have supplied approximately 1,558 pieces of religious literature (included in this number are about 768 New Testaments) to other ships and craft than our own. The need and the demand for New Testaments and other religious literature is great here. Your cooperation in making available to us this literature and the other very useful equipment is indeed appreciated."

Respectfully submitted,

BEN F. WYLAND, Liaison Chaplain.

My Dear Helen:-

Thursday night late it was a very dark night and I was trying hard to sleep. It was so quiet I could hear the softest breezes in the palms. Gradually a small voice stepped out of the night's sound saying "Please sir, can you hear me?" "Yes sweetheart," I said, "I can hear you. What is it?" "I am looking for a Mommy - a dear sweet Mommy. Do you know where I can find one?" "Yes Dear, there is one waiting miles and miles away from here. Oh, its over a thousand miles - away off in a strange northern land called Oneida. I'm afraid you will get lost and then she will feel so bad." "Oh, no I won't, kind Sir, a Good Angel will tuck me under his wings, near his heart and we'll soon be there. I hope she will be waiting for me." "Yes, Sweetheart, she is waiting. Hurry along and don't be late or you'll make Mommy feel very bad. Before you go, Sweetheart, tell me your name." She said, "Frances." "Oh, how beautiful. You must be beautiful too, although I cannot see you. But hurry along - quick now and don't miss the way. Tell me before you go, how will you know your Mommy. you are looking for?" "Oh, that's easy, kind Sir, I go where they want me most. That sets lullaby music going that I can hear and it will lead me right to the right Mommy. I can hear her now calling me. Its getting late. I must go. Thank you, kind Sir. I think I must belong to you too, because I can hear music in your heart too." "So long, Sweetheart, I'll be seeing you." And so Frances found her mother that night and we love her already very much.

Love from Grandfather

To Frances and her mother.

Dear Rev. Wyland:

I have been out of the country since the time of the wonderful news concerning the commutation of Walter Irvin's death sentence and therefore have not had the opportunity to express my appreciation and highest regard for the marvelous work you did in the Irvin case. Your initiative persistence and great sensitivity to the moral issues involved and your wonderful ability to convey the moral importance of the case to others were some of the most important factors responsible for the great victory.

Let me thank you once more.
